

MyScienceWork & Annual Reviews Partnership Agreement for the Indexing of Annual Reviews 50 Scientific Journals on the MyScienceWork Database.

San Francisco, July 24th, 2018 - MyScienceWork is very pleased to announce that content from Annual Reviews is now indexed in its databases.

Since 2010, MyScienceWork has been committed to the dissemination of research outputs. Because MyScienceWork shares this value with Annual Reviews, the repository now indexes their most recent publications spanning from 2017 to 2018. The publications cover all topics and disciplines to support scientists in their research. MyScienceWork reinforces its leading position as a one-stop shop for fast and relevant publication discovery.

“We are very pleased to further partner with MyScienceWork as a direct link for users to discover our highly cited review articles. Annual Reviews was founded in 1932 to help researchers stay informed by providing authoritative synthesis of the ever expanding primary research. That same principle guides us today.”

Jenni Rankin
Product Marketing Manager

“For the past three years, we have been collaborating with Annual Reviews and are proud offer improved visibility to the most recent content from their database. This is another step for us to increase the ease of publication access for our research community and, actually, to all those involved or interested in science. We are both California based companies with the same goal: to share knowledge.”

Virginie Simon
CEO & Co-Founder of MyScienceWork

Annual Reviews articles are available on the MyScienceWork scientific platform: 50 journals covering a wide range of disciplines such as biomedical, life, physical, and social sciences, as well as economics.

About MyScienceWork:

Since 2010, MyScienceWork has been supporting research & innovation institutions all over the world. MyScienceWork provides communication services and develops tools that help researchers and their institutions identify, manage, analyze, promote, and disseminate scholarly outputs toward research stakeholders.

MyScienceWork hosts an international community of professional scientists and science enthusiasts on their open network who deposit and discover scientific publications from all disciplines.

About Annual Reviews:

Annual Reviews is a nonprofit publisher dedicated to collecting and spreading knowledge for the progress of science and the benefit of society. For more than 85 years, Annual Reviews has offered expert review journals that today span over 50 titles across the biomedical, life, physical, and social sciences. Annual Reviews launched Knowable Magazine in 2017, an open access digital magazine to explore the real-world significance of this highly cited scholarship and make it accessible to broad audiences.
